Primrose Schools [ICSE]

It is not for our family, it is not to secure a good position, it is not to earn money, it is not to obtain a diploma, that we study. We study to learn, to know, to understand the world, and for the sake of the joy that it gives us.

Prim Bulletin

Welcome to the newsletter for February and March! An awesome end to this year. Splayed with all the excitement in the world with an equal amount of sadness for leaving school. We were thinking of the best way to sum up this year when it came to us that all we needed was our beloved friends the "A, B, C's". Let us elaborate:

This year was...

Awesome in every aspect

Beautiful in its thoughts

Colorful--- splayed across every wall

Difficult- for a year always has its ups and downs

Extraordinaire (Of course!)

Fun--- every second of it

Gaiety- with celebrations around every corner

Hip to the best facilities

Inspiring ideas and thought that have changed our lives

Jocular- with laughter year round

Kudos! This year deserves it!

Lifetime of happiness

Master of all our years so far

New- students, programs, competitions, and sports

Outdone all expectations

Plight of joy

Question arising by thousand with every idea

Resolute

Sesquipedalian- a learning experience

True to its heart

Ultimate year of memories

Variety of experiences

Wonderful- truly wonderful

Xiom- if this year could be described in one word

Yare for anything in the future to come

And finally, this year has left us with a

Zeal to learn more!

And we guess that sums it all up. We hope to be blessed in the same way in the next academic year!

Happy Holidays!

THE MOON

*The moon is like a pearl
In the blue black sky
It goes rolling to the east
Is happy and spreads its milky light
And the stars are like diamond crystals
Scattered in the sea
We feel that the diamonds smile at us
With their twinkling eyes
At last they hide somewhere
When the king, the sun arrives*

*Got my weekly mag
Wrapped in a poly bag
Set me thinking, do we really need
This poly bag which becomes cows feed
And makes her suffocate and die
No, no! Let the world hear my anguished cry
Say no to this plastic waste
Pick up paper bag and improve your taste
Down with poly bag, is the need of time
To use mere plastic is a crime
My shampoo bottles, my grocery bag, and my tube of paste
Use plastic and add up to this waste
This way we are inviting environmental crisis
Plastic will kill us unless we make haste*

Field Trip Time! (Class IV)

*I enjoyed all the galleries like live snakes, Enfield guns and canons of Tipu Sultan
I learnt about animals mythology statues, satellites, and natural resources*
- Nikhil

I enjoyed seeing the Chettinad house, dance forms, dresses of each state and more. The Japanese dress was really very cute.

-Kamala Saraswati

I enjoyed seeing all the buildings, especially the children's museum. I saw the Indus Valley Civilization about which we learnt in school.

How to write Effective English

EVERYDAY VS EVERY DAY

Quote by Brian A. Klems:

"The English language is tricky sometimes, and this instance is a perfect example—yes both "everyday" and "every day" are correct, but they can't be used interchangeably. While they ultimately mean the same thing, they have different functions.

"Everyday" is an adjective that describes an object. My work clothes are separate from my everyday clothes. Around our office, fax-machine meltdowns are an everyday event.

"Every day" is an adverbial phrase (where "every" is actually acting as an adjective describing "day"). I start every day by giving my wife a kiss. Also, don't tell anyone but I watch "The View" every day.

If you're still in doubt, use this little trick to keep it straight: Try to substitute "each and every day" in the place of the "everyday/every day" in question. If it works, go with two words. If not, it's one word".

Quotes

It is not how much we have, but how much we enjoy, that makes happiness.

- Charles Spurgeon

Do not take life too seriously. You will not get out of it alive.

-Elbert Hubbard

What sunshine is to flowers, smiles are to humanity.
But these trifles, to be sure; but scattered along life's pathway, the good they do is inconceivable.

- Joseph Addison
