

TABLE OF

CONTENTS

- EDITORS SPEAK
- SPORTS DAY BYTES
- SPORTS CHAT
- TOP FIVE- NATURAL WONDERS IN INDIA
- BOOK REVIEW
- GAIA TALKS
- KALAKAR'S KORNER

PRIMROSE EDITORIAL TEAM IS COMPLETELY STUDENT LED. THE ONES BEHIND THIS NEWSLETTER INCLUDE:

MARSHINI GANESH (LITERARY SECRETARY)

SOWMYA PARTHASARATHY (JOINT LITERARY SECRETARY)

MS. B. SANGEETHA (TEACHER MENTOR)

Editors Speak

Greetings and apologies !

First of all, belated wishes for a very happy Diwali. We understand well that there has been a delay in publishing this edition. But we have more than made up for it! Trust me readers, you are in for a treat (or trick, your wish!). As usual, Primrose was buzzing with lots of electrifying energy and enthusiasm. Our Prim Buds were busy bees eagerly preparing to showcase their talents.

The Sports Day turned out to be a huge success even though rain tried to play spoilsport (pun intended ;)). From the tiny tots to the super seniors (the parents too), everybody had a wonderful time.

The festival of lights arrived soon after the Sports Day and all Primrosians celebrated it with great pomp and show. From "jimikki kammal" dances to thought- provoking plays, the celebrations had it all. Well not to forget, the memorable fireworks!

At Primrose, we are taught to treasure and count our blessings. The orphanage visit to share the festive spirit of Diwali turned out to be a heartwarming experience.

All in all
October had it all!

Cheers!
From the editors

" Rain or storm,
Come what may
Played to our hearts content
On Sports Day "
- B. Sangeetha, Dept. of English

T'was good. Could've been better.
Just wait for the culturals.
winks

-Varsha, Gr 12, Cultural Secretary

Wow!

PRIMROSE speaks
Sports day bytes

FUN!
-Shirley
Armstrong, Gr 11

Good. The weather was more than perfect during the Primary Sports day.
- Natalia Teig, Gr 12, Sports
Secretary

Excellent! I liked how parents were also given a chance to participate
- Remya Kishore, Dept. of Physics

Sports Chat

- AN EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW WITH AIDAN ELIAS SEBASTIAN, JOINT SPORTS SECRETARY

Q:

How was Sports Day for you?

:A

I got to run the whole thing with my friends. I learnt several new things such as marking for badminton and football systematically. Gokul sir happened to teach me all this. All in all, it was a new experience for me .

Q:

So in your opinion how important is sports in every school?

:A

Right now, if you see people are more into academics than sports.

(sly smile directed towards the Lit team).

Considering the current rate of people being obese is high, especially among students, sports is important to each and every student. Schools prioritise academics over sports yeah? (waits for approval nod from the press).

In our school though, we have both girls and boys football team and that is something really good as you don't usually find in all the schools. In that case, I think our school is a step ahead.

Q: What was the best part about the Sports Day?

The best part was that the students ably shouldered all the responsibility. Rather than letting the teachers conduct the whole show, the duties were listed and given to the students. The teachers' included us in their discussion and guided us to take over and handle the event.

:A

Q: Which sport do you like the most and why?

Does it include sprinting and all that? grins (Approval nod from the press) I do sprint and I love football. (From much coercion from the press, he chooses one sport). Yeah, football because rather than one person playing in it, we have a whole team so it requires a lot of teamwork and a lot of thinking. That's why I like it.

:A

Q: Now that Sports Day is done, what's your next plan?

giggles Okay for a sports secretary sports day is really, really important. As it's over I don't think there's any work for us. I'm not sure whether it's interschool or intra school, but we have football matches. If we do have the matches, the team and I (Sports Secretary and School Pupil Leader) will also play.

:A

PRINCIPAL DESK

Dear Parents, I write this with a great feel of happiness and satisfaction, as we have successfully marched to the end of first term of the academic year 2017-18. The first term has marked a great start of the academic year, flooded with activities and it's nothing unusual when I say we did close the term with the heartthrob activity the KG Project Day.

The KG project day, Yes Of course was a colorful event. The tiny tots did not fail to captivate the hearts of the audience through their cute and flawless performance. Every child is born with intelligence and when its nurtured and taken care of it in the right time, even the sky doesn't become the limit. Our tiny tots did possess loads of talents in them and our teachers had done a fine work in identifying the skills of every child, setting the stage for them to perform different events like reciting rhymes, singing, dancing and enacting various roles through skit. The colorful display of the young artist was blissful. Though we cherish on lighter parts of the academic happenings, challenges are also a part and parcel of our achievements, without which our victory becomes meaningless. "Behind every young child who believes in himself is a parent who believed first." As a responsible teacher and a guiding Principal, I felt the stress and pressure the tenth graders are facing due to the upcoming board exams. The stress of the board exams does extend its arms to the parents thus making their lives miserable.

I believe, behind every successful student stands a strong and supportive parent. My intuition guided me to conduct a workshop to guide the parents to handle their children in stress, serve as a moral support, most of all believe in them to win over the challenge with much ease. The workshop was a sandwich program consisting of three sessions “Stress relief through art” by Mr. Jacob, Art Teacher, Primrose Schools “The board exam year distressed” by Mrs. Arundhati, Head of Parent Circle and “Bonding with the child through sports” conducted by Mr. Gokul Nath, Head of Physical Education Department Primrose School; served as an ultimate stress buster. The workshop added value in bringing the parent and child together bridging the gap brought by the exams

I hope and believe these little efforts would bring in a lot of positive impact in a child’s life who is longing to have someone to shoulder the ups and downs of the life. Wishing my children all the very best for their future endeavors.

Regards

Principal

Torch Bearers of Primrose

Karate as a martial art

Event Display

Oath taking Ceremony

Champ's on their feet

Running for Victory

Future Soldiers

Traditional game as a visual treat

Talent wins games, But team-work & intelligence wins Championship

Moments to celebrate

Individual Championship

AFSAL RAHMAAN M.

QATHIRA GIFFTHIYA. M

Marshini Ganesh

Nandini Ganesh

Sai Mothesh

ISA SPORT EVENTS

Mayan Ball Game

Denmark's King's Play

England Football

British Bull Dog

Scotland

Book Review

HARRY POTTER AND THE PRISONER OF AZKABAN

Harry Potter and the Prisoner of Azkaban is the third book in the Harry Potter series written by J.K Rowling. The Prisoner of Azkaban refers to mass-murderer Sirius Black, who has broken out of wizarding prison Azkaban for which he was enslaved in for twelve years and he is coming after Harry!

Harry enters his third year at Hogwarts with his best friends Ron and Hermione and finds himself facing death omens, deadly dementors and terrifying truths! He finds out more about his past in one year than his entire lifetime. It's a magical tale of twists, betrayals, adventure and new friends. Can he trust a werewolf and a convicted murderer who has supposedly betrayed his parents to Lord Voldemort?

This book enters the realm of Harry Potter's mysterious past and provides both comic reliefs in certain parts and mystery that portrays the dark forces of the wizarding world. More characters are introduced into the series, including three of the mischievous makers of the Marauders Map! I especially liked the way it developed, from the blowing up aunt to mad hipogriffs, cats and rats and finally a conflict between old classmates that uncovers the extraordinary truth. I would recommend this book to people of all ages, though my only complaint is that you can't stop reading it!

By: Ashwin Krishna
Grade XI

GAIA TALKS

Every drop counts

Don't wait for anyone to save water
You're brave enough to save water
Don't let the water go,
C'mon you can save water!
Count the drops of water wasted
Make sure that no drop is wasted!
With water on earth the world is like heaven,
But when it is wasted our earth is hell!
For you, the raindrops are waiting
For you the rainwater is waiting to be saved!
Save water! Save water! Save water!

P. Jayesh
Gr VIII

Don't waste water

Save water,
Clean water,
Everyone needs water

Drink water,
Bathe in water,
You cannot live without water

A water can,
Is better than gold,
To a thirsty man

Soon, water will be sold,
For a bag of gold,
When we get old,
Water will be no longer sold

So save water,
The world is in your hands.

Akhil
Gr VIII

Every drop counts

I am the most essential for all
Can you guess who I am?
I am water, the most precious resource
Do you know how I was treated ages ago?
I was treated very well
But now I feel like I'm in hell!
I was being saved
But now being wasted
I wish to be treated well
Because if I'm not there,
You would not be there
Because I am the elixir of life

Ashvita Prajith
Gr VIII

My Mother

My mother is so gentle and kind,
this poem I wrote with her mind

We walk together
In sunny and in gloomy weather.

When I come from school,
There she is, composed and cool!

She is very kind,
And she helps me with my studies
for which I apply my mind

I'll help her to cook,
and she'll help me to read a book
and who did all of that?
Yeah, its my mother, she is the best.

Leya
Gr VII

Every drop counts

Water, water everywhere
People used it with care

Water was there everywhere
People got it from here and there
Now we find water nowhere
Please use it with sense and care

Water was there everywhere
Save water for future's sake
Respect every lil' pond, river and lake!

Menaka
Gr VIII

The future world

Babies won't cry,
People will fly!
Strange things will happen
In the future world

Everything will be blue
Your dress too!
Funny things will happen
In the future world

Robots and more
Everywhere galore!
Beautiful things will happen
In the future world.

Leya
Gr VII

Kalakar's Korner

Pritha.K
Gr V A

Kevin
Gr II B

Katherine Abigail
Gr V A

Jeethesh
Gr V B

Ophira
Gr IV A

Cornelia Rebecca
Gr III C

Bhuvanish
Gr III C