Sports Day Fun

Sports energizes the young, brings back the youth in the aged.

Primrose celebrated its 12th Annual Sports day on 14 October, 2017 with high ethos. This Annual Sports Day was aimed to educate the minds of performers and the spectators.

Aside from the more well-known sports such as football, children had the chance to try something bit more unusual with an integration of International School Awards Project which manifested the traditional games of India (Kho-Kho & Kabaddi), Ancient Mayan Ball Game (Mexico), Football & Bull Dog (England) and King's Play (Denmark).

It was a meaningful and structured learning. Games which are normally restricted to the fields now came into the classrooms. The children learnt the rules of the game and watched videos to learn the art of playing. The key idea was to introduce people to a sport that is not necessarily popular in India but has the potential to teach key skills like teamwork and perseverance.

The children learnt about the rules of every game, created their own rule book and prepared albums. This promoted the 3C's—communication, collaboration and creativity—the essential skills of the 21st century. The ISA project has also served as a tool to preserve and pass over the history of various places to the future generation. The children were able to collaborate with other schools to share their views on the topic, "Traditional Sports Versus Modern Sports" via e-mails.

The exciting day saw teachers and Parents actively participate in various events with the right spirit of sportsmanship.

Cherishing Grandparents

"Love is the greatest gift that one generation can leave to another" – Richard Garnett

Tiny tots in colourful attires were excited to perform before their grandparents during the Grandparents Day celebration on 28 October, 2017 at the school premises. Grandparents enjoyed the show as they tapped their feet to various tunes. Teachers conducted a few games to bring back the youthfulness in them. The grandchildren enjoyed seeing their grandparents on their toes. The tiny tots appreciated and adored their grandparents. They also rejoiced the victory of their grandparents.

Warm Grandparent Love

Let's tell our grandparents they are important. Let's show them how precious they are! They always stay close to the heart. Their bed-time stories are an integral part of our childhood. They are also the wise and experienced ones we turn to in times of trouble. Their knowledge is invaluable, and their love remains unconditional. So why wait? Let's hug them and show them our love and respect.
