MICRO TEACHING

"One of the most popular methods of self-training is to watch another teacher teach and to learn by doing trial and error in one's own lessons. Conversely, microteaching assists in removing mistakes and strengthens the teaching abilities of both novice and experienced educators. Microteaching builds classroom management abilities, boosts self-confidence, and enhances in-class teaching performances." said one of our teachers.

ONLINE DEBATE TRAINING PROGRAM

Testimonial of A Parent

My daughter has always had a natural talent for arguing. Through her participation in debates, she has honed her ability to communicate effectively and persuasively, backing her points with solid evidence. The training sessions have instilled in her the confidence to express her thoughts in a systematic and well-supported manner. These tangible life skills will prove invaluable in preparing for interviews, writing essays, negotiating successfully, and, most importantly, building her confidence and ensuring her voice is heard.

Thanks Primrose! " –
